Supporting Affordable Housing in Frederick County

FREDERICK AFFORDABLE HOUSING COUNCIL

Objectives and Membership

The Frederick County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) and the Mayor and Board of Alderman of Frederick City established the Affordable Housing Council (Council) in 1993. The Council's objectives are to create and advocate for affordable housing and present the affordable housing message about current conditions and future trends to the Frederick County community. The BOCC appoints members to the Affordable Housing Council, to include representatives from five segments of the community: housing consumer, private industry, religious, non-profit and at-large.

CURRENT INITIATIVES

The Council is implementing the 2010 Comprehensive Plan, Housing Element and the Affordable Housing Action Plan, which were endorsed by the Board of County Commissioners. They both address multiple strategies for creating and preserving affordable housing in Frederick County. Goals call for investigating the feasibility of forming a community land trust, the removal of regulatory barriers, and the ongoing creation and expansion of affordable housing programs.

The Affordable Housing Council generally meets the 2nd Monday of every month, 2:30-4:30 p.m., at the Bernard Brown Community Center, 629 North Market Street, Frederick, Maryland.
